DOUBTS ABOUT THE PHOEBUS CASE

People of Norfolk Fast Recovering From Their Scare.

PREVENTIVE MEANS TRIED

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., August 3.-Gov. Woodfin gave out the following official statement this morning: "No new cases yellow fever at the home. No deaths since Tuesday night."

The suspected case in Phoebus reported last night was confirmed as a genuine case of yellow fever today.

* Norfolk's Fears Allayed. Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NORFOLK, Va., August 3.-The fear, be-Heved by many to be baseless, that the yellow fever would spread from the Soldiers' Home in Hampton and invade Norfolk appears to have passed in the night. A wonderful change in the attitude of Norfolk people has taken place since yesterday, and this morning many are laughing at the fear which vesterday possessed their acquaintances. The change in public sentiment was made apparent when the morning trains and boats outward bound left. Not one-quarter so many passengers embarked upon them as had every morning previously, beginning on Monday last. The fact made known yesterday that another day had passed without increase in the number of yellow fever patients at the Soldiers' Home, and the correction of certain false reports to the effect that a number of cases had been discovered at Phoebus, has contributed materially to allay the alarm here-an alarm which the cool-headed from the first believed wholly unjustifi-

The fact that the first cases of fever detwelve days have passed without any cases having developed outside of the home and its immediate vicinity, since Phoebus and home are contiguous, leads the best physicians hereabouts to express their belief that the danger line is passed.

The belief is general here this mornin that the yellow fever scare will be over within a week unless present indications fail. Dr. Field of the marine hospital service here expresses the belief that there is but the most remote possibility of the fever ever crossing the broad water between Norfolk and the peninsula. Preparation: are being made at Fort Monroe in accord ance with previous arrangements to remove the troops to Battery Point, Del. The movement will begin this afternoon,

NO NEW CASES TODAY.

Favorable Outlook for the Prompt Suppression of Yellow Jack.

There were no new cases of yellow fever reported to Surgeon General Wyman today There could be no more encouraging condi-tion than that shown in the area of infection from yellow fever, and from present prospects the marine hospital service wii achieve the very creditable success of suppressing an epidemic of yellow jack in its incipiency before the arrival of frost. The day when hear frost has been regarded as an essential condition for conquering the yellow fever germ has passed, and it i likely that the disease that broke out at the National Soldiers' Home at Hampton will be held within the limits in which it was developed, and suppressed with few, if any more cases than have been developed up to

As interesting development in the work of Dr. Wyman today was the location of the old soldier, Wm. Thomas, who is believed to have brought the fever to the home from Santiago. Thomas was in the hospital from July 2 to 5, inclusive, after which he disappeared, and a constant when he was located at Coltanhus City, Wash. The news that Thomas had gone north instead of to some southern point was very grathying to Dr. Wyman. The state of Washington offers to condithe epidemic would have been very serious.

Thomas location in the north is regarded as 50 favorable that he will not even be kept under observation by the marine hospital service. He was over the fever when he left the hospital, and moving about in pital service. He was over the fever when he left the hospital, and moving about in the open air would probably have disin-fected his clothing had he carried the in-fection with him when he left the home.

LONDON, August 3.-Mrs. Wm. Y. Perot of Baltimore, Md., who was arrested at Liverpool on an extradition warrant July 27, after reaching that port from Canada, charged with the abduction of her daughter Gladys, and who was brought here and remanded, the same day, on £100 bail, with two sureties, appeared for examination this morning in the Bow street police court. She was again remanded on the same bail and with the same sureties, Sir G. Ewen-Smith and Mr. N. Blood.

Mrs. Perot looked remarkably well and entered the court holding Gladys by the hand, accompanied by her brother, Mr. T. Pierce, and Lady Colin Campbell.

Mr. N. Blood, a brother of Lady Colin Campbell, who accompanied Mrs. Perot to this country, and who reached the court a few minutes later, was warmly greeted, an all-round handshaking following his arrival. There was some excitement in the court room when Mr. W. H. Perot, the father-inaw of Mrs. Perot, entered, accompanied by Mr. Hodson of the United States embassy. Mr. Hodson pointed to where the opposing party was seated, and said:

"There they are.. Those are Blood's brothers and sisters." Mr. Perot advanced to greet his granddaughter, but she hid her face in her hands, muttering:

Mr. Perot, sr., stood by the dock, regarding the prisoner in a withering manner and evidently much hurt by the reception accorded him by Gladys.

Eventually the party hurried out of court, evidently relieved by the expedition of the proceedings. > This is a fortified post on Long Island sound, between New London, Conn., and Montauk Point. There will be ample accommodations, it is said, for the 240 men comprising the battery. If any of the men have been infected and should develop the fever they can be more easily quarantined at Plum Island than at Battery Point.

There is no telling, however, when the men will get there. The order for their removal was issued by Secretary Alger last Monday, and they have not started yet Furthermore, the date of their probable departure can only be surmised. Department is having no end of trouble to get the men away. Surgeon General Wy-man does not want them transported by rail through Virginia, as they would have to pass through Phoebus and Hampton.

Difficulties of Transportation.

As has been stated, the transportation companies objected to furnishing a vessel for the shipment of the men to Cape Charles City, where connection would b made by rail for New York. The steamship owners were afraid that fever might break out on board the vessel and cause the conthat the troops cannot land at Cape Charles to take the train. It is thought probable, however, that the officials might be induced however, that the officials might be induced to raise the quarantine to enable the men to pass directly through without stopping. The latest proposition is to send the men by sea from Fort Monroe direct to Plum Island. The only objection to this plan is the lack of a transport. The department is short of transports on the Atlantic coast, and it may be several days before they can find one available for this duty.

Trouble Over Wages. WILKESBARRE, Pa., August 3 .- The en ployes of five big collieries in the anthracite region have gone on strike. The main grievance is alleged excessive dockage. It is estimated that nearly 2,500 men are idle. At the Nanticoke colliery of the Susquehanna Coal Company 1,000 have stopped work, and at the Keystone, at

"It is too early to make a definite prophecy in regard to this outbreak," said Dr. Wyman. "It is only four days since we knew of the presence of yellow fever at the Hampton home. Everything certainly looks encouraging today, and the fact that the soldier who is supposed to have brought the fever to the home did not go to some southern place, but went to the northwest, where he can do no harm, gives us additional encouragement. That yellow fever can be prevented from

No. 14,486.

"That yellow fever can be prevented from spreading over any considerable territory has been shown by the record at Brunswick, Ga., in 1893, when it was confined to the place of its original outbreak. That was also done at McHenry, Miss., last year, where there was no spreading of the disease, and although there was yellow fever in other places in Louisiana and in Mississippi it had no connection with the Mississippi it had no connection with the McHenry outbreak. Again at Franklin, La., last year there was no extension of the disease from that place. It is most important, that we be given votice. portant that we be given notice promptly of the presence of the disease in a city when it breaks out. Delay would allow it to spread before our measures for confiing it had been put in force. At McHenry the disease was suppressed long before there was a frost, and at Brunswick and Franklin the infection continued until there was frost at those places, but it did not spread to any other place."

The News 3till Good. Up to 3 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Wyman had received no information that indicated any spread of the contagion today. The question of fumigating the mail from Old Point, Hampton, Phoebus and the National Soldiers' Home has been turned over to the Post Office Department, Although there is no infection at Old Point and Hampton, it is thought advisable to disinfect the mails from those places.

Dr. Bruner of Savannah sent a telegram that there are no immune physicians there for service in the infected district.

THE LOCAL QUARANTINE.

Order of the Commissioners - What Dr. Woodward Says. Upon the recommendation of Dr. Wm. C. Woodward, the District health officer, the Commissioners late yesterday afternoon decided to establish a quarantine here against the Hampton Soldiers' Home, and the adjoining town of Phoebus, Va. Speaking of his recommendation today to a Star reporter, Dr. Woodward explained that the step advised by him was not the result of any direct fear on his part that yellow fever will reach the District from the infected Virginia points, but was recommended by him out abundant caution. "I believe," said Dr. Woodward, "that the steps taken by the United States and state authorities to prevent a spread of the disease will be successful, and I am en-couraged in this belief by the reports re-ceived from the infected points yesterday and this morning. But there is, of course, and this morning. But there is, of course, some danger of the disease reaching the District through persons coming here from those places. Therefore, in order to reduce this danger of introduction to a minimum. I recommended to the Commissioners that they prohibit, until further notice, the coming here of persons from the infected points. I am still of the opinion that our people have no reason to fear the introduction of yellow fever here from those places, for I am satisfied that the marine hospital for I am satisfied that the marine hospital for I am satisfied that the marine nospital officials and the state authorities have taken and will continue to take such steps as will confine the disease to those points, or, at least, to their vicinity."

The Official Order.

The order promulgated by the District Commissioners last evening, upon the advice of Dr. Woodward, reads as follows: "That until further notice any and all rsons coming from Hampton, Va.; Phoebus. Va., or any other place that is or may be hereafter infected with yellow fever, are prohibited from entering the District of Columbia until the health officer of the District or his duly accredited representa tive is satisfied that such persons are neither suffering from nor have recently een exposed to yellow fever.

In the enforcement of this order, stated Dr. Woodward, health department inspectors will be maintained at the wharves and railroad stations for the purpose of exnining and investigating all incoming pas amining and investigating an incoming pas-sengers from southern points, and especial-ly those from Hampton and Phoebus and their vicinity. With these inspectors will be detailed special officers, clothed with po-lice powers, to assist the inspectors in de-taining suspected persons and in other-wise enforcing the order of the Commis-stoners. Persons arriving here from Old wise enforcing the order of the Commis-sioners. Persons arriving here from Old Point Comfort, Newport News and Nor-folk, said Dr. Woodward, will be permitted to stop here, provided the inspectors are convinced that they have not been exposed o the disease, and persons from the infect-d points will be allowed to pass through he city, but will be allowed to remain here inder the surveillance of the inspectors for nly such length of time as may elapse be tween their arrival and the departure of tween their arrival and the departure of the next train for the north. Persons who are known to have been exposed to the dis-case will not be permitted to enter the city, and if any such persons are found in the District they will be sent to the detention camp, and kept there until the health de-partment authorities shall have been satis-ted their all danger of contracting the disuse or of imparting it to others has passed, stally, said Dr. Woodward, the period of cubation from the time of exposure is five s, but Surgeon General Wyman of the card, will be followed here. Must Satisfy the Inspectors. Very many persons, said Dr. Woodward, have passed through the city from Old Point Comfort, Norfolk and Richmond since the appearance of yellow fever at the Hampton Home, the great majority of them having purchased tickets at Richmond. Dr. Woodward thinks, however, there is very little to fear from the passage through the city of such persons, as he is confident that the marine hospital service officials and the state authorities would not have permitted them to leave had there been any danger of infection from them. The order promulgated by the Commissioners, ex-plained Dr. Woodward, places the burden satisfying the District authorities of their freedom from exposure and infection upon such persons, and until the local in-spectors are satisfied that there is no dan-either be denied admission or detained at the detention camp for a period of ten days from the date of their exposure. "I am very much encouraged," said Dr. "I am very much encouraged," said Dr. Woodward, "by the recent reports from the Hampton Jome and Phoebus, believing that the disease is under control at those points, and am therefore still of the opinion that the people of the District have little to fear in the matter. The development of the disease in Phoebus is the worst feature of the trouble, for I am satisfied that in its presence there the real danger of its spreading to other points really lies. But, as I have said, I feel encouraged in the belief that even there the United States
